

Ben, Class of 2012

"I have always appreciated the example that PCA's teachers provide both inside and outside of the classroom. I think that all of my teachers saw honoring God as their core responsibility, and I am still benefiting from products of their loving service. My favorite classes were with Dr. Gamble; they fed my ever-increasing interest in history, an interest that has since led me to graduate study in history."

Ek and LeeAnna
"We decided to send our kids to PCA because we are confident that they will continue to be taught in the way we have raised them, both spiritually and academically. Our children love their teachers and are very excited to get to know other kids and participate in school activities. After dropping the kids off in the morning (even after the 40+ minute commute) I am overwhelmed at God's goodness that we get to send our kids to PCA."

Stephen and Summer

"On the first day of school, it was obvious to us that each of the administrators were called, by God, to their role. They all carried a kind, capable, and confident spirit. We left that day feeling at peace and excited about this coming school year and the many years to come. Being able to drive away after dropping off my daughter, and feeling completely peaceful and confident she will thrive is something I hadn't experienced until PCA. It's all I could ever want or ask for. It's priceless."

WE ARE EAGLES
STORIES FROM THE
PCA COMMUNITY

Every PCA Eagle has a story.

PCA Eagles come from more than 45 towns in New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts, and around the world. They are artists, athletes, learners, and leaders; and while their talents and interests vary, they are all on a journey to maximize their unique God-given potential. In the pages that follow, you'll meet a few PCA Eagles and read first-hand accounts of how they have been and are being uniquely prepared for life. Seven core values inform everything that happens at PCA: Christ-Centeredness, Biblical Integrity, Compassionate Community, Curiosity, Excellence, Humility, and Joy. You'll see how those values equip Eagles to impact the world for good.

Matthew and Elaine

"There is something very special about PCA's Preschool, because both of our children ask when they get to go back to school on their days off.... PCA has given us one of the largest gifts we could ask for this year by allowing our son with special needs to attend. The layers of positive impact that PCA has had on our family dynamic for the better."

Adam and Rachelle

"The same teachers who pray over our boys have become role models to our boys as they grow. The role models I see the boys looking up to are the same ones that I would handpick for them. They respect these teachers. They look up to them. They want to be like them."

Madison, Class of 2020

"The teachers at PCA have not only prepared me academically, but also spiritually. I specifically remember some of Mr. Foley's classes where we would take a break from whatever we were doing and he would give us valuable advice about life and faith. I'll be attending a public university after PCA, and I'm so thankful that I've been able to build a strong foundation of faith while at PCA that I can carry with me throughout college."
